NEVER MIND THE BOLLOCKS, HERE'S LA GUARIMBA!

None of us have ever thought it would be easy to do a film festival in the wild region of Calabria. This land of the impossible is where things are always magnified, even when it comes to complications. In this second year of pandemic, the town has been put under external administration because of the mafia, the Parco della Grotta that we had repaired ourselves last year, has now closed and deemed unusable, following the collapse of part of the old town, and regional fundings are no longer available. Despite all of this, we have still decided to bring cinema back to the people and people to the cinema.

Thanks to our Calabrian stubbornness and Venezuelan hope for change, we set to work and found a badly kept space, symbol of the social degradation that the town is experiencing: a parking lot not far from the Arena Sicoli, the open-air cinema that we repaired and used for our first edition and which is to this day, unfortunately, closed.

The parking lot will be part of our urban regeneration project, and will recover with the help of street art and prompt work that will allow us to offer you a beautiful ninth edition, certainly more punk than ever, but with the same La Guarimba spirit: no fear in getting involved knowing that everything can change.

From the 1174 short films received from 80 different countries, the team of programmers carried out a meticulous analysis and evaluation work to select 172 works from 56 countries from all continents: 5 African countries, 13 Asian, 28 European, 9 American, 1 Oceanic. Gender equality is fairly represented in the program: 94 of the selected films are directed by women (55% of the total). This selection confirms the mission to represent different cultures, languages and traditions, bringing richness and cultural variety to a small village in Calabria without a cinema.

The programme is enriched by special sections: KARMALA, the Sub-Saharan Africa programme; AMERICANIA, US short films; EL GUAYABO, a selection of documentaries on the Venezuelan diaspora; FOCUS LITUANIA; and finally the winners of GLAS ANIMATION, the US animation festival that had to take place online this year and that we will host on our screen.

The monkeys are coming back, see you this summer in Amantea.

-Giulio Vita

Despite the challenging year, we are incredibly delighted to have been able to put together what might be our strongest program so far. With the partnership of UNICEF Italia, at La Grotta dei Piccoli we are excited and ready to take our younger audience through a journey, bringing them closer to the ever-evolving world of animation.

The 100 animated short films that we have selected for this year come from all over the world and celebrate diversity, human emotions and the connection to nature.

Some stories will make us travel through new cultures, some will take us back in time and others will make us experience the everyday struggles and concerns through the eyes of a child.

With each and every edition the festival's mission gets stronger and stronger and so does the one of La Grotta dei Piccoli, we are determined to be part of this change and inspire the new generations in the best way we can.
